APPOINTS MR. LEECH

President Names Him to Be Public Printer.

SUCCEEDS CHAS. A. STILLINGS

Since 1901 Mr. Leech Has Been in Charge of the Government Printing Office at Manila, Philippine Islands-Appointment Gives General Satisfaction to Labor Men.

President Roosevelt yesterday announced his decision to appoint John S. Leech to the office of Public Printer, to succeed Charles A. Stillings, resigned. Mr. Leech was formerly employed in the Government Printing Office in Washington, but since 1901 has been public printer for the Philippine Islands, in Manila. The following is the official announcement given out at the White House: 'The President will send to the Senate, Monday, the name of John S. Leech, of Bloomington, Ill., as Public Printer, Mr. Leech is at present the chief of the bureau of public printing in the Philippines, having been promoted to that position on May 29, 1901, from the Government Printing Office, where he was serving as foreman of a division.

Named as Compositor,

"He was appointed a compositor June 1, 1889, and his designation changed to proofreader on June 13, 1895. In April. 4 1897, he was promoted to general foreman. He was a member of the International Typographical Union, and is at present enrolled as an honorary member of that organization. He organized the bureau of public printing in the Phflippines, and the Philippine Commission speak in the highest terms of his efficiency, and urge his appointment. He is about forty years of age. Senators Cullom and Hopkins join in indorsing him.' The appointment seems to give general satisfaction to the leaders of organized labor, with several of whom a reporter for The Washington Herald talked last The President decided upon the appointment several days ago. It is said the selection was made on the recommenda-tion of Secretary of War Taft, who was well acquainted with the work done by Mr. Leech in the Philippine Islands, be-ing under the observation of the Secretary while the latter was governor there. It is not known just when Mr. Leech leave for the United States.

resident is in no haste about a new man taking charge of the big printery, in view of the satisfactory service being given by Capt. Brian, Acting Public Printer. In these circumstances, Mr. Leech will probably take plenty of time in closing up his work in Manila. Born in Bloomington.

John S. Leech was born in Bloomington Ill., forty years ago. His father and mother continue to reside in that city. He received a common school education, and at the age of fifteen years entered a 'printing office in Bloomington, where served an apprenticeship at the case. He then entered the office of the Bloomington Pantagraph, where he was em ployed as a compositor. He then went SOLOMON KANN PASSES AWAY to Chicago, where he worked as a journeyman on leading dailies. Oscar J. Ricketts, one of the candidates for the position of Public Printer, spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Leech. The two men are intimate friends, and Mr. Ricketts prophesied that Mr. Leech will quickly restore harmony and establish business principles in the big printery.

J. L. Fceney, president of the bookbinders' union, said: "In the selection of John S. Leech as Public Printer, we have procured the services of a practical printer and a capable man. "I predict for his administration one free from friction and thoroughly businesslike.

"Mr. Leech has had experience, not only as a journeyman printer in the Government Printing Office, but also in the Philippines as the superintendent of the printing office in Manila, which thoroughly qualifies him to conduct the office here. "In a way, it will be pleasing to the President, as well as to all the officials who have business with the Government Printing Office. "Organized labor in the District is under deep obligations to The Washington Herald for the splendid fight it made to oust Stillings from office, and also in exposing the unbusinesslike methods of Charles A. Stillings as Public Printer. "We feel that the President, in the appointment of Mr. Leech, has tried to please organized labor, and organized labor is grateful."

Gen. Edwards, chief of the Insular Bureau, spoke in the highest terms

"His selection as Public Printer here in Washington," he said, "will be a distinct loss to the Philippine Islands, but I can't imagine a more eminently merited one, I am sure it will tend to restore good feeling and give the results desired. The Philippine government points to him as one of their most efficient officials. The resident Philippine commissioners were only the other day speaking to me about him and his attitude toward the natives as giving them more gratification than any other bureau chief in the Philippine Islands. Moreover, he knows the printing business from

It is probable the vacancy caused by the appointment of Mr. Leech to head of the Government Printing Office will be filled by the promotion of Edwin C. Jones, who is now assistant director of printing in the Philippines. Mr. Jones has held that position since 1901. He is a native of Washington.
